

Multiple Practices

The game is suitable for children in the senior primary school classes to practice multiples.

The facilitator gives the number to practise (eg 4) and then runs through the multiples for this number together with the group.

The group sits together in a circle.

They then start counting from 1, 2, 3 ... with each child in turn saying the next number.

When the counting comes to the multiple number, instead of saying the number they must clap or stand up and down or stand up and down and turn around.

For example, if the number is four, they clap (or the action agreed on) when it comes to number 4, 8, 12, 16 etc.

Any child who misses a number is out of the game for that round.
